

We Welcome Featured Flyer Scott Weider for Windless 2017

“Flying a kite is like having a bird listen to your mind through your practiced hands.” Scott Weider

Scott Weider currently resides in Warwick RI. He has been flying kites for over 20 years and has flown competitively for many years. Scott has won multiple regional and national championships in both indoor and outdoor competition. In addition to competition Scott is a performer and has done kite performances all over the world. Some notable appearances include the 2003 US Open Tennis championships, the 2008 PGA Ryder Cup and the "Service Employees International Union" convention in 2008 in Puerto Rico. Scott is also a multiple time featured street performer at the Tribeca Film Festival, National Air and Space Museum in Washington DC and Aerial Experience Productions. From the streets all the way to the Broadway stage with Heather Henson's Ibex Puppetry, "Celebration of Flight", Scott's performances have mesmerized people around the world. He is the leader of outdoor quad line team, Rev Riders which is a successful group that travels and performs across North America. When Scott performs people become part of the performance. Scott's favorite quote is, "Kiting is my passion and I feel blessed to have other people enjoy my performance".
